- ✓ Maximise ROI using Vend inventory management and reporting.
- ✓ Manage the business from any location in the cloud.

“We don’t double sell, as when an action happens in one system it’s recorded in the other. And we save time because we only enter the product information once, and its available across both systems. Everyone is happy.”

Michael Nagdimunov - Owner

The Challenge

Grain & Vine owner Michael needed a POS system that allowed him to manage complicated inventory, including re-ordering, cost tracking, and reporting, while working from multiple locations. He also needed a system that integrated with his preferred payments provider and ecommerce platform, allowing him to sync inventory across his brick and mortar store and online.

The Solution

Michael found that Vend’s seamless integrations with best-in-class solutions would allow him to save time, make more money, and create beautiful customer experiences. By choosing Vend as the central app, he’s able to manage all of his inventory from one system, as well as cut down checkout time and eliminate human error with integrated payments.

The Results

With Vend, Grain & Vine are now able to integrate ecommerce and payments processing with their POS system. By choosing Vend as their central app they now make more return from their inventory and free up time on every transaction, making it easier for Michael to grow his business.
